LOG OF ACTIVITIES

Date: Throughout Year

Total Hours: 3 (1.5 for HS, 1.5 for MS)

Name of Activity: Meetings with Students for Disciplinary Actions

Location of Activity: St. Mary High School Principal's Office

Task Area Involved: Leadership Theory

Description of Activity: Whenever a student got in trouble this year, rather than just throw them in detention as a punishment I tried to correct the behavior by meeting with them and teaching them our ways. I implemented what I called the "Three Cardinal Rules" which are:
1. Be where you're supposed to be and be there on time.
2. Always think, talk, and act like a young lady or gentleman; people will assume you are one and treat you as such.
3. Remember everything you do you represent yourself, your family, and your school.
Explaining these to students had a positive impact and greatly reduced the number of disciplinary occurrences and re-occurrences compared to previous years.

Its Value: I'm a big believer that when students do wrong they should be punished, but they should be taught as well. What I tried to do with this was tie the "Three Cardinal Rules" to every situation the student could remember getting in trouble and explain how they were breaking one of these three rules. Then I would explain how these rules relate to the mission of St. Mary and the goals we set as a school. For example, when students are not talking and acting like a gentleman they are not "carrying the light of Christ", which is part of our mission. I tried to get students to understand that if they take a second before acting to think on these three rules and see if they are following them, they would have far fewer disciplinary issues and in turn would be better stewards of St. Mary Catholic Schools, thus fulfilling our mission as a school.
